Hall rental warning: Be Wary of Potential Viral Party

A person identified as Rajneet openly admitted that a 20th birthday party event will be using social media to advertise and sell tickets. Generally, ticket sales at an event require a special license, ones advertised to the general public always escalate, and the police warn about events advertised in this way as being the ones that have bad consequences from hall wrecking to violence. Be sure to screen potential renters thoroughly - online guide Additional Hall management resources

Leagues Alive! Conference and Trade Show Breaks New Ground for League Board Development

Out of just about every mouth emerging from each session rang praise and inspiration. People gained valuable visions and tips to take back to utilize at the League level and wished they could have attended more classes. We will be hosting development sessions in between now and the next conference so be sure to watch the news. Check online in the near future for materials and pictures - we are working to get these resources from the presenters.

Thanks to the organizers Kris Morra and Andrea Sage for their superb work, and to the EFCL Staff, EFCL Board, EFCL Stand-by volunteers, and City of Edmonton staff for all their support. Information about the Conference

COMMUNITY CONVERSATION AT JASPER PARK COMMUNITY HALL & AREA THIS WEEK

REACH Edmonton, Edmonton Police Service and the City of Edmonton will be holding a community conversation next week.

The event is planned for Thursday, Nov. 8 at Jasper Park Community Hall from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

We are hoping you and your members will be able to attend this event to express your concerns about crime in your area. Conversely, if you feel your area is very safe, we would love for you to attend to share your ideas about how your community has achieved this so that we can share this information with other neighbourhoods in the city. If you have any questions about this event please feel free to contact and RSVP:

Cheers,
